DEAR [PERSON'S NAME]

I am excited to submit my application for the Product Manager position at your software engineering company. With my background in computer science and experience leading software projects, I am confident in my ability to deliver impactful products and guide cross-functional teams to success.

As a student at Beirut Arab University majoring in Computer Science, I've taken on the role of project manager in a few software engineering projects. My work involves building business architecture models, designing and managing UI/UX SDLC pipelines, and implementing authentication and authorization systems for enterprise applications. I've also worked with container ecosystems and built out Architecture Building Blocks (ABB) involving security services, application layers, and IT principles.

In addition, I've led initiatives that required creating RACI charts for team alignment and leveraging tools like Power BI to support data-driven decisions. My leadership style focuses on collaboration, adaptability, and ensuring that the final product aligns with user needs and strategic goals.

I am genuinely enthusiastic about joining a team that values innovation, user-centric design, and strong execution. Thank you for considering my application. I would welcome the opportunity to further discuss how I can contribute to your organization.

Sincerely,

Bader Othman
